

Marvol Enterprise — Employee Onboarding Protocol

Version: 1.0 • Prepared: October 6, 2026

Scope: Marvol Facility Services airport janitorial staff; supervisors and administrators receive additional role training.

Status: Proposed operating protocol for company adoption. The schedules, passing scores, escalation times and review intervals below are company standards proposed here, rather than statements of legal or airport requirements.

Process owner: Operations Manager • Record owner: HR/Administrator

1. Purpose and release standard

Every employee must understand the work, demonstrate safe cleaning, use the Marvol app, and know how to request help before working independently. Watching a video or signing a statement alone does not demonstrate competence.

Independent assignment requires all applicable administrative and airport-access checks, required training, knowledge checks, practical demonstrations and supervisor approval. A pending item keeps the employee in an appropriate supervised assignment; it does not authorize access to restricted areas or unsafe work.

The training home is Employment → Onboarding. The Forms tab contains approved employment and onboarding forms. Private HR documents must remain restricted to authorized HR staff. The Employee Portal continues to support ordinary employee operations.

2. Roles and accountability

Role	Responsibility	Required evidence
HR/Administrator	Employment documents, contact details, payroll setup, employee record, language/accessibility needs, role permissions, badge coordination	Administrative checklist and verified document status
Operations Manager	Assign supervisor and buddy, establish site procedures, resolve delays, authorize independent work	Release decision and exception log
Supervisor	Orientation, safety instruction, practical assessment, shift oversight and follow-up	Observation checklist and signed assessments
Training buddy	Demonstrate the assigned route and equipment; observe practice and report questions	Buddy-shift notes; no authority to waive release requirements
Employee	Attend paid required training, ask questions, demonstrate procedures, record actual time and complete personal attestations	Own training and acknowledgment records

Airport-authorized sponsor	Coordinate applicable airport credentials, training, approved access and badge return	Official clearance status and authorized access scope
Payroll administrator	Record required training time and correct missing time promptly	Approved time records and correction history

One named person owns each item. Supervisors may observe their own direct reports, but employees cannot approve their own readiness or time.

3. Onboarding stages and status rules

Stage	Target timing	Completion gate
Offered	After accepted offer	Role, reporting line, proposed start and work location confirmed
Preparing	Before first shift	Administrative setup, orientation booking, buddy and access plan assigned
Orientation	First paid day	Welcome, policies, emergency route and app access demonstrated
Training	Days 1–3, adjusted to role	Required modules, video, knowledge check and practical demonstrations complete
Supervised practice	First 3 working shifts	Buddy observations and coaching recorded
Ready for independent work	When all applicable gates pass	Supervisor recommends and Operations Manager releases
Follow-up	Days 7, 30, 60 and 90	Documented check-ins, quality results and development actions

Each checklist item has Not started / In progress / Completed / Needs correction / Not applicable. “Not applicable” requires a manager reason and cannot waive a requirement that applies to the job. Overall statuses are Preparing / In training / Needs support / Awaiting access / Ready / Closed. Separating readiness from employment status prevents an incomplete course from silently changing someone’s employment or account access.

4. Before the first shift

HR sends one welcome pack containing the start date, reporting location, supervisor contact, orientation agenda, uniform expectations, transport/parking instructions, document instructions and app sign-in guidance. Do not put passwords or sensitive documents in group messages.

HR completes the following:

- Confirm accepted offer, role, pay arrangements, schedule expectations and supervisor.
- Create one employee record; check for duplicate or former-employee records before adding a new one.
- Verify the employee’s work email or designated sign-in identifier and a recovery route.
- Ask which training language the employee understands: English, Spanish or Haitian Creole. Arrange interpretation or an accessible alternative where needed.

- Collect emergency contact and payroll information through approved private channels.
- Provide current approved tax and employment-verification forms; explain that the employee chooses acceptable I-9 documentation.
- Schedule the applicable airport-access process through the authorized sponsor. Record its status without placing background-check details in ordinary supervisor views.
- Assign a supervisor and buddy, reserve training time, and prepare uniform, appropriate PPE and equipment.
- Confirm the current training-video version and available acknowledgment form.

Form I-9 Section 1 is due no later than the first day of employment; employer Section 2 is generally due within three business days of the first day, with special rules for shorter employment and permitted alternatives. Follow current USCIS instructions rather than replacing this process with a company signature form. USCIS Form I-9 instructions

For first-time airport badge applicants, GOAA describes fingerprinting, a background check and required computer-based courses before badge issuance. The sponsor must verify current requirements and the access actually needed for this role. Company orientation does not replace airport-issued training. GOAA Access Control

5. First-day orientation

Suggested paid orientation agenda; extend it when the employee needs more explanation or practice:

Session	Suggested time	Content
Welcome and employment administration	30 minutes	Role, reporting line, work expectations, document status, payroll and training time
Workplace conduct	20 minutes	Respect, harassment reporting, confidentiality, attendance and customer interactions
Site walk	30 minutes	Assigned area, storage, restrooms, exits, assembly point, emergency contact route and authorized access boundaries
Safety instruction	45 minutes	Hazards, PPE, chemicals, spills, sharps/bodily-fluid escalation and safe equipment use
App orientation	25 minutes	Sign-in, timekeeping, assigned tasks, photos, incident reporting and supplies
Video and discussion	20 minutes	Current MFS training video, pause for questions, explain the acknowledgment
Practice and assessment	45 minutes	Demonstrate critical procedures, knowledge check and coaching

Record actual attendance and time. Required job-related training must be recorded and paid as working time where applicable; employees should not be told to complete mandatory onboarding off the clock. U.S. Department of Labor: Hours Worked

Before the site walk, the supervisor records the actual local emergency number/contact, assembly point, incident-reporting route, SDS location and authorized areas in the site orientation form. Do not assume the app is the only emergency channel.

6. Required training modules

Module	Employee must explain or demonstrate	Evidence
Company expectations	Reporting line, punctuality, respectful behavior, confidentiality and how to raise concerns	Orientation acknowledgment
Airport security and access	Authorized areas, badge display/use, no badge sharing, escort restrictions, lost badge reporting	Sponsor-confirmed requirements and applicable official clearance
Personal readiness	Black pants and yellow reflective shirt under the current training standard, company ID, suitable footwear and task-specific PPE	Supervisor inspection; verify any site-specific additions
Hazard recognition	Inspect first; recognize spills, broken glass, traffic, obstructions and maintenance concerns	Site walk and verbal scenario
Cleaning chemicals	Read labels, locate SDS, follow approved dilution/use instructions, use required protection and never mix products	Product-specific demonstration
Trash handling	Empty bins, replace liners, collect litter and cigarette waste using approved tools; stop for unidentified hazardous waste or sharps	Observed work sample
Sweeping and details	Walkways, curbs, corners, drains and high-traffic areas; protect pedestrians	Observed work sample
Cobweb removal	Correct extension-pole use; safe reach; ceilings, signs, lights and pipes within authorized scope	Observed demonstration
Elevator cleaning	Doors, buttons, glass and floor; protect passengers and avoid unapproved maintenance or electrical work	Observed demonstration
Spill response	Secure area, place signs, use the approved response method and inspect before reopening	Controlled practice scenario
Equipment and ergonomics	Inspect equipment, safe handling, lifting/cart use and reporting defects; operate only equipment covered by training	Equipment checklist
App and timekeeping	Sign in as self; clock actual time, record breaks correctly, request a correction and avoid duplicate records	Employee demonstration
Daily task evidence	Read detailed duties, complete only work actually done, attach required evidence and report unfinished work	Sample task demonstration without altering real records
Incident and supply reporting	Report hazard/location/action taken; request stock; know when to call immediately	Scenario exercise
Final inspection and handover	Check area, report problems, record completion and hand over unfinished or unsafe work	End-of-route demonstration

Chemical training must be specific to the products and hazards encountered. Explain labels, SDS access, safe use, protection and emergency measures before hazardous chemical work. PPE is selected for the task and product, rather than from a generic list. OSHA/NIOSH: Cleaning Chemicals

If respirators, powered machinery, bloodborne-pathogen exposure or other specialized work applies, the safety lead identifies and completes the separate applicable training/program requirements before authorizing that work. The general video is not authorization for specialized tasks.

7. Video viewing and signed acknowledgment

Use the approved MFS New Employee Training video in Employment → Onboarding. Maintain a stable training identifier and a new version whenever the content changes. Keep the exact video associated with each historical acknowledgment available under appropriate access controls.

The employee workflow is:

1. Sign in with the employee's own account.
2. Watch the complete current video; allow pause, replay, volume, seeking and accessible alternatives.
3. Save viewing progress. Seeking to the end alone must not mark the video complete.
4. Ask the supervisor about anything unclear.
5. Complete the knowledge check and any assigned correction.
6. Select two separate, initially unchecked confirmations: “I watched the full training video” and “I understand the training and know how to ask for help.”
7. Enter the employee's full-name signature and submit once.
8. Show a saved confirmation with training title/version and completion time.

Recommended attestation wording:

I confirm that I watched the identified training in a language or accessible format I understand. I had an opportunity to ask questions. I understand the procedures covered, know when to stop and request help, and will follow the approved site instructions. My acknowledgment records my attestation; my supervisor will separately verify practical competence.

Retain employee ID, name at signing, typed signature, training ID/version, video identifier or hash, confirmations, server timestamp, knowledge-check result and any approved alternative evidence. Retain correction and superseding records without overwriting the original signature. A signed acknowledgment must persist after refresh and must not be duplicated by repeat submission.

Viewing telemetry is supporting evidence, not proof of attention or comprehension. A signature is a training attestation, not a waiver of rights or a replacement for required statutory forms. A different person must never sign on an employee's behalf.

For an accessible alternative, the supervisor records the training provided, version, language, date, reason, knowledge check and demonstration. Use a specific alternate-training completion route; do not manufacture video telemetry or impersonate the employee's signature.

8. Knowledge check and correction

Proposed standard: at least 9 of 10 correct, with every critical safety question correct. Provide an equivalent oral or translated assessment when appropriate. Explain incorrect answers, allow retraining and keep each attempt.

Do not collect a signature implying understanding while material questions remain unresolved.

#	Ask the employee	Expected response	Critical?
1	What do you do before starting to clean an area?	Inspect it, identify hazards and confirm it is safe to proceed.	Yes
2	What must you do before using a cleaning chemical?	Check the approved instructions/label and required PPE; know SDS access; never mix products.	Yes
3	What is the correct spill-response order?	Secure area, place warning signs, use the approved method, inspect before reopening.	Yes
4	What do you do with broken glass, sharps or unknown hazardous material?	Stop direct handling, secure/report the concern and follow the trained site procedure.	Yes
5	Can you enter any airport area if a coworker opens the door?	No; access must be authorized for the employee and any escort must follow airport rules.	Yes
6	What must be done when emptying a trashcan?	Empty it appropriately, replace its liner and leave the area clean.	No
7	Which surfaces are covered in elevator cleaning?	Doors, buttons, glass and floor, within authorized cleaning scope.	No
8	When can you mark a task complete?	Only after doing the work and providing required evidence.	No
9	What if the time clock or GPS does not work?	Notify the supervisor, record actual time through the approved fallback and request an audited correction.	No
10	What do you do when a hazard remains at the end of a shift?	Secure/report it, document unfinished work and hand it over to the supervisor.	Yes

A failed critical item results in Needs support for that task until retraining and reassessment. The supervisor records what was taught again and the observed result. The Operations Manager resolves repeated failures with HR through the normal company process; the app must not automatically make an employment decision from a quiz score.

9. Practical assessment and independent-work release

The supervisor observes these 15 points during a controlled exercise and supervised cleaning route:

1. Uniform/ID and task-specific PPE are correct.
2. Employee inspects the assigned area before work.
3. Hazards are recognized and communicated.
4. Pedestrian/vehicle exposure is controlled using site procedures.
5. Chemical selection, instructions, labeling and SDS knowledge are correct.
6. Equipment is inspected and used within the employee's authorization.
7. Trash is removed safely and liners replaced.
8. Walkways/curbs are swept without exposing others to hazards.

9. Corners and drains receive the specified attention.
10. Cobweb work uses approved safe reach and tools.
11. Elevator surfaces are cleaned safely within scope.
12. Spill isolation, warning signs and reopening check are correct.
13. Actual time and applicable break records are accurate.
14. Completed tasks, photos and reported issues reflect actual work.
15. Final inspection, stock requests and handover are complete.

Mark each Pass / Retrain / Not applicable with reason. Proposed release threshold: all applicable points pass after any correction. Independently of the score, unsafe chemical use, uncontrolled spills, unauthorized access, unsafe equipment use or falsified records block release until corrected and reassessed.

For the first three working shifts, the buddy demonstrates, then observes, then steps back while the employee performs the route. At each shift end, the supervisor records strengths, corrections and whether further supervision is required. Extend the period when needed.

The release record must contain administrative status, applicable airport-access clearance, required training/attestations, knowledge-check results, practical results, authorized areas/equipment, restrictions, supervisor recommendation, Operations Manager approval and release date. "Ready" means ready for the stated scope, not every task at every site.

10. Follow-up and refresher training

Review	Focus	Output
Day 7	App use, actual time records, safety habits, route confidence, remaining questions	Coaching plan and unresolved-item owners
Day 30	Cleaning quality, attendance discussions, documentation, stock handling and passenger interactions	Written review with employee comments
Day 60	Consistency, expanded duties and support needs	Targeted training plan
Day 90	Overall readiness, feedback and continuing development	Onboarding closed or extended with named actions

Use a 90% quality-inspection target for ordinary follow-up if adopted by Marvol; a critical safety failure requires correction regardless of the total score. Do not invent a fixed probation outcome or automatic disciplinary rule from these review dates.

Retrain after a material video/procedure change, introduction of a new hazard/product/equipment, change in assigned scope, observed unsafe practice, relevant incident or extended absence where skills need refresh. Set refresher frequency through the safety program and current airport requirements. A new training version requires a new acknowledgment and any affected practical checks; retain earlier versions and records.

11. Exceptions, escalation and records

Issue	Immediate action	Owner and follow-up
Immediate danger/injury	Stop affected work, secure as safe, use the local emergency route	Supervisor immediately; record incident after emergency response
Badge pending, lost or expired	No unauthorized restricted-area access; notify sponsor	Sponsor and Operations Manager; approved assignment only
Missing/late employment documentation	Alert HR promptly; follow current required process	HR; documented due date and resolution
Sign-in, device or accessibility problem	Provide approved supervised alternative and actual-time recording	Administrator/supervisor; no shared account
Failed training/assessment	Retrain; keep affected work supervised	Supervisor with a specific reassessment date
Conflicting or obsolete procedure	Stop affected task and obtain current instruction	Operations Manager/safety lead
Incomplete task or unsafe handover	Report and assign a responsible recipient	Supervisor before the shift ends

Proposed administrative escalation: reminder to the item owner one working day before due; overdue notice to the supervisor on the due date; unresolved administrative delay to Operations Manager/HR the next working day. Safety and security concerns use immediate escalation instead.

Employees see their own training, progress, signatures and feedback. Supervisors see operational readiness and training evidence for the staff they are authorized to manage. HR/payroll documents, identity numbers, bank details, medical information and background-check contents remain separate with restricted access. Do not use task photos to collect personal documents or passenger information.

HR maintains a documented retention schedule by record type using applicable law, airport/contract requirements and legal holds. Access, corrections, release decisions and version changes must be auditable. Do not purge records merely because a worker becomes inactive. On transfer, verify new-scope requirements; on separation, use the existing HR process to recover company property/badges and remove access appropriately.

13. App workflow blueprint and rollout

This protocol is the operating specification; it does not claim these additional features have already been installed in the app.

Recommended Onboarding sections: My onboarding, Training video and acknowledgment, Knowledge check, Practical assessment, Access and readiness, and manager-only Staff completion review. Show a clear next action and responsible contact on every pending item. Keep Forms separate for approved document templates and private submission routes.

Build a reusable role template rather than manually duplicating requirements for each hire. Calculate due dates from the actual first paid day where applicable. Maintain versioned training requirements and immutable completed records. Never let staff approve their own readiness or sign for someone else. Handle interrupted video playback, duplicate submissions, failed saves, changed videos, accessible alternatives and unavailable devices explicitly.

Before adoption, the Operations Manager and HR fill in the local contacts, exact site procedures, approved chemical/equipment list, official access requirements, pay/timekeeping process, document handling and retention schedule. Review the language editions with staff or qualified reviewers. Run a pilot with a small cohort and one supervisor; check understanding, usability and record accuracy, then correct gaps before general rollout.

Track completion by stage, overdue critical items, first-pass practical results, time to authorized readiness, Day 30 quality, employee feedback and retraining frequency. Use these to improve the program rather than treating viewing time as a measure of employee value.

14. Airport badging protocol

Owner: Marvol's airport-authorized sponsor/signatory. Approving authority: Airport Access Control. Marvol records and coordinates the process; it does not issue airport authorization or promise approval.

A. Start the application

After the candidate accepts the offer, HR confirms the role, assigned location and access genuinely required. The authorized sponsor verifies the current official application, accepted documentation, appointments, applicable fees and required training directly with GOAA. Explain the steps to the employee in a language they understand. Do not promise a badge date before clearance.

Use these tracked milestones:

Not required → Sponsor review → Employee action needed → Application prepared → Appointment booked → Airport review pending → Required airport training pending → Ready for issuance → Issued/verified → Renewal due → Suspended/expired → Returned/closed.

“Not required” needs a sponsor-approved reason for the actual assignment. A company ID and an airport badge are separate records. An issued badge is not permission for every area or activity.

B. Appointments and official checks

1. Sponsor checks the current application and confirms the employee's requested access scope.
2. HR communicates the appointment location, time, documents and arrival instructions using a private channel.
3. Employee attends required identity/document review and fingerprinting as directed by airport officials.
4. Sponsor records the official processing status, without posting sensitive investigation details to a supervisor dashboard.
5. Employee completes each required airport security/course requirement, and driver-related authorization only if needed for the role.
6. Sponsor confirms official clearance and issuance status; incomplete or disputed results go through the airport's official review process.
7. Supervisor assigns only work permitted by the employee's actual current clearance. No shared badges, borrowed credentials or informal escort arrangements.

GOAA's published guidance requires first-time applicants to be fingerprinted, pass a background check and complete required computer-based training before issuance. Verify the current role-specific process before each application. GOAA Access Control

C. Issuance and badge orientation

The sponsor records badge type/approved scope, issue date, expiry date, required official training completion and verification source. Keep the badge number and any necessary scan restricted to authorized administrators; operational views show status, expiry and access scope instead of sensitive documents.

The employee demonstrates understanding of:

- Where their badge permits them to work, and where it does not.
- Display/use requirements and protection against loss or misuse.
- No credential sharing, unauthorized entry or tailgating.
- Current official escort rules, if the employee has escort authorization.
- Immediate reporting of a lost, stolen, damaged or suspected-compromised badge.
- Who to contact for a blocked reader or disputed access; never bypass it.
- Renewal and return obligations communicated by the sponsor.

Record the employee's badge-rules acknowledgment separately from the airport's own required attestations. Airport-issued forms and courses remain authoritative.

D. Release gate

The manager verifies that the badge is issued, current, applicable to the assignment and accompanied by required official training. Badge status alone does not complete company cleaning training. Company training alone does not authorize airport access. Confirm both before approving independent work in the relevant area.

E. Renewal, loss, suspension and return

Proposed company reminders: sponsor reviews expirations weekly; create renewal tasks at 60, 30 and 7 days before expiry, adjusted to the airport's actual renewal window. Record appointment, training and issuance evidence. Never extend badge validity in the app without official confirmation.

For a lost/stolen badge, the employee immediately contacts the supervisor and authorized sponsor using the established local route; the sponsor follows GOAA's current notification and replacement procedure. Prevent assignments requiring unavailable authorization. Do not use a coworker's badge while waiting.

For suspension, expiry, transfer, extended leave or separation, the sponsor verifies official notification/deactivation and return requirements. HR coordinates company account changes through the normal approved process. Record the badge's return date, recipient and official confirmation; retain an unresolved return task if the badge has not been recovered. Do not label it "returned" solely because the employee record became inactive.

F. Badging checklist

Milestone	Owner	Due/ appointment	Status	Evidence reference
Role and minimum access scope confirmed	Sponsor
Current official application/instructions verified	Sponsor
Employee privately given document instructions	HR
Required appointment scheduled	Sponsor/ employee
Official application/identity steps completed	Sponsor
Fingerprinting/review status confirmed	Sponsor
Required official courses completed	Employee/ sponsor
Role-specific additional authorization verified	Sponsor
Badge issued, scope and expiry verified	Sponsor
Badge-rules orientation and acknowledgment	Supervisor
Applicable work-access release approved	Manager
Renewal reminders assigned	Sponsor
Return/deactivation completed when applicable	Sponsor/HR

15. Offer and acceptance workflow

Owner: HR, with hiring-manager approval. Use the company's verified legal employing name on every letter; "Marvol Enterprise" here is a working name, not a determination of legal entity. Fill every bracket before sending. Terms in these templates are proposals to be completed, not promises about existing Marvol policies.

1. Hiring manager approves the role, pay, schedule expectations, work location, reporting line and proposed start.
2. HR checks the employing entity, current policy/benefit references and any lawful role-specific conditions.
3. HR issues one dated, versioned offer with an acceptance deadline and a contact for questions.
4. Candidate receives the offer in an understandable format and has an opportunity to ask questions.
5. Candidate signs the acceptance tied to that exact offer version; HR records receipt and sends confirmation.
6. HR starts preboarding and the applicable airport-badging process. Update start arrangements if clearance is pending; do not silently change the offer.
7. Changes to pay, role, location, conditions or start terms require a revised written offer or written amendment, with fresh acceptance of the changed terms.
8. Declined, expired or withdrawn offers retain a dated status and authorized reason under the HR retention schedule. Do not automatically create active employee access for an unaccepted offer.

Keep offer/acceptance records private to the candidate and authorized HR/hiring management. A training signature does not count as offer acceptance. Typed signatures should be attributable to the signer with consent to the approved electronic process, offer-version linkage, timestamps and a downloadable copy. Do not send either letter on the candidate's behalf.

D. Offer tracking checklist

Record	Required information
Approval	Hiring approver, role, terms, date
Issued offer	Candidate ID, legal entity, reference/version, issue date, deadline, delivery record
Acceptance	Exact offer version, signer/name, date/time, approved signature evidence and copy
Outstanding conditions	Requirement, authorized owner, due date, status and verified resolution
HR confirmation	Receipt date, reporting instructions and confirmed/proposed start
Amendment	Changed terms, reason, authorized approval and new acceptance
Outcome	Accepted / Declined / Expired / Withdrawn; recorded date and authorized note

Adopt the letters only after HR verifies the company-specific terms and approved employment-language clauses. Do not treat this generic template as a completed contract or an actual offer to any individual.

Badging appointment control note

GOAA's current page states that only Authorized Signatory Representatives may obtain official application forms; copies are not acceptable. The applicant and authorized employer representative sign the completed application, and it is valid for five business days after the authorized signatory signs. The signatory verifies matching identification and submits the completed application through the official portal before directing the employee to processing. Schedule the signing and appointment together so an application does not expire while waiting. Verify the current rule each time. This airport application procedure is distinct from the employee's I-9 document choices. GOAA application guidance

16. Combined application, I-9, W-4 and E-Verify packet

Owner-directed policy: collect the application, I-9 and W-4 in one coordinated onboarding session, with the offer/acceptance gate enforced. The initial applicant may submit the job application before an offer; I-9 entry is unlocked only after an offer is accepted. For an accepted hire, any remaining application information, employee I-9 Section 1 and signed W-4 are completed together. Do not require a pre-offer applicant to complete an I-9 or use E-Verify to screen applicants.

Use this sequence:

1. Candidate submits the application. HR records the hiring decision through its authorized process.
2. HR issues the approved conditional offer; candidate accepts the exact offer version.
3. Open the combined new-hire packet. Candidate finishes any outstanding application information, completes and signs I-9 Section 1, and completes and signs the W-4 in the same session. Save each form separately with its own status and signature evidence.
4. Employer/authorized representative completes the applicable document examination and I-9 Section 2 under current USCIS procedures. Employee submission alone does not complete the employer's I-9 responsibility.
5. An authorized E-Verify user creates the case from the completed I-9, after offer acceptance. The ordinary case-creation deadline is within three business days after the employee's first day of employment. Track that deadline independently of optional packet completeness, and handle official exceptions under E-Verify guidance.
6. Record case number, creation date, official status, next required action and authorized owner in a restricted HR record. Resolve and close cases using the official process; do not invent an automated authorization result.
7. Track W-4 receipt separately for payroll. W-4 is a tax-withholding form, not an input or prerequisite for E-Verify. A missing W-4 must not delay a required E-Verify case; payroll handles any incomplete tax election under current IRS guidance.

Completion distinctions: Application submitted; Offer accepted; Employee forms submitted; Employer I-9 verified; E-Verify case created; E-Verify follow-up pending or case completed; Payroll setup complete. Never combine these into a single "verified" checkbox.

Exceptions: Allow lawful document receipts, pending Social Security number situations and other official exceptions to route to HR without false completion. Do not take adverse action solely because a case has a tentative mismatch or is awaiting resolution; follow official notices, employee rights and case deadlines. Preserve the first paid day, due dates and audited corrections. Do not automatically suspend an employee while a case is being resolved.

Store identity numbers, documents and signed tax forms only in restricted HR storage. Employees access their own forms; ordinary managers see completion status and assigned actions, not full identity or tax details. The application/training signature is not a substitute for the individual statutory form signatures.

17. Adopted hiring sequence and final start confirmation

Approved sequence: Application → conditional offer and acceptance → I-9 + W-4 → employer I-9 verification → E-Verify → final start-confirmation letter.

This sequence supersedes any less-specific hiring sequence elsewhere in this protocol. I-9 and W-4 remain part of the same post-acceptance new-hire session. The employer completes its I-9 review separately before creating the E-Verify case. Record statutory deadlines from the first day of employment; packet delays or company letters must not delay a required case. W-4 remains a payroll requirement rather than an E-Verify input.

The conditional offer and candidate acceptance use the templates in Section 15, with the actual approved conditions clearly listed. The HR acceptance receipt confirms receipt only; it is not the final notice that all start conditions are satisfied.

Issue a final start-confirmation letter when the applicable offer conditions have been verified. E-Verify review must follow its official case process and employee rights; an unresolved tentative mismatch does not itself authorize delaying work, suspending the employee or withdrawing an offer. HR handles pending cases and lawful start arrangements through that process. Airport access remains a separate requirement for any assignment needing it.
